Strategic Planning

Setting the long-term direction for the organisation is the governing body’s most important role.

Strategic Planning is a method for positioning an organization to take advantage of its future by:

- Capitalizing on its opportunities.
- Addressing its challenges.
- Providing the kind of leadership that masters change.

A strategic planning process incorporates an in-depth planning model that takes place over time with stakeholder involvement.

Phases of Strategic Planning

|--------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Reference Overall Singular Purpose ("Mission") | During planning, planners have in mind (consciously or unconsciously) some overall purpose or result that the plan is to achieve. For example, during strategic planning, it's critical to reference the mission, or overall purpose, of the organization. |
| Take Stock – Internally and Externally | This "taking stock" is always done to some extent, whether consciously or unconsciously. For example, during strategic planning, it's important to conduct an environmental scan. This scan usually involves considering various driving forces, or major influences, that might affect the organization. |
| Analyse the Situation | For example, during strategic planning, planners often conduct a "SWOT analysis". (SWOT is an acronym for considering the organization's strengths and weaknesses, and the opportunities and threats faced by the organization.) During this analysis, planners also can use a variety of assessments, or methods to "measure" the health of systems. |
| Establish Goals | Based on the analysis and alignment to the overall mission of the system, planners establish a set of goals that build on strengths to take advantage of opportunities, while building up weaknesses and warding off threats. |
| Establish Strategies to Reach Goals | The strategies (or methods to reach the goals) chosen to depend on matters of affordability, practicality, and efficiency. |
| Establish Objectives Along the Way to Achieving Goals | Objectives are selected to be timely and indicative of progress toward goals |
| Associate Responsibilities and Timelines with Each | Responsibilities are assigned, including for implementation of the plan, and for achieving various goals and objectives. Ideally, deadlines are set |

| | |
|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Objective | for meeting each responsibility |
| Write and Communicate a Plan | The above information is organized and written in a document which is distributed to identified stakeholders. |
| Acknowledge Completion and Celebrate Success | This critical step is often ignored which can eventually undermine the success of many of your future planning efforts. The purpose of a plan is to address a current problem or pursue a development goal. It seems simplistic to assert that you should acknowledge if the problem was solved, or the goal met. |

Guidelines to Ensure Successful Planning and Implementation

|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| A common failure in many kinds of planning is that the plan is never really implemented. Instead, all focus is on writing a plan document. Too often, the plan sits collecting dust on a shelf. Therefore, most of the following guidelines help to ensure that the planning process is carried out completely and is implemented completely -- or deviations from the intended plan are recognised and managed accordingly. | |
| Involve the Right People in the Planning Process | Going back to the reference to systems, it's critical that all parts of the system continue to exchange feedback to function effectively. This is true no matter what type of system. When planning, get input from everyone who will be responsible to carry out parts of the plan, along with representative from groups who will be affected by the plan. Of course, people also should be involved in they will be responsible to review and authorize the plan. |
| Write down the planning information and communicate it widely | Key stakeholders (employees, management, board members, funders, investor, customers, clients, etc.) may request copies of various types of plans. Therefore, it's critical to write plans down and communicate them widely. |
| Goals and Objectives Should Be 'SMARTER' | |
| Specific | Be specific in what goals MCW wants to achieve. For example, it's difficult to know what someone should be doing if they are to pursue the goal to "work harder". It's easier to recognize "Write a communication plan". |
| Measurable | Ensure the goals can be objectively measured. |
| Acceptable | The goals need to be acceptable to the major stakeholders. |
| Realistic | The goals need to be able to be achieved. |
| Time frame | Define the times when each step of the goal needs to be achieved. |
| Extending | MCW needs to be capable to achieve the goals set. |
| Rewarding | The chance that MCW will implement the plan successfully is greater if the service is rewarded for its effort. |
